INFORMATION LETTER

We invite you to take part in the
XIV INTERNATIONAL STUDENT SCIENTIFIC SYMPOSIUM
«COMMONWEALTH OF SCIENCES»

(28 October 2026)

dedicated to the 30th anniversary of King Danylo University

Venue and time

The XIV International Student Scientific Symposium will open at 10:00 a.m. at: 35 Yevhena Konovaltsia Street, Ivano-Frankivsk, Higher Education Institution «King Danylo University».

The event will be useful for students at the first (bachelor's) and second (master's) levels of higher education and their academic supervisors.

Purpose and substance of the event

To create an interdisciplinary youth platform designed to provide professional dialogue and an exchange of ideas and scholarly approaches to solving current problems in the development of architecture, construction, economics, law and design, as well as digital and information technologies. The main focus is on the search for innovative solutions, the promotion of cross-sectoral cooperation and the shaping of new development strategies in the respective fields.

Within the framework of the Climate Engine project, funded by the European Union, a separate English-language session of the conference will be organised.

Main thematic areas

Architecture and construction

- current trends in architectural design;
- environmental and energy-efficient construction technologies;
- preservation of cultural heritage under conditions of urbanisation.

Business and Management

- modern models of business operations and development: strategic management, entrepreneurship, marketing;
- digitalization of business and management processes: financial technologies, management accounting, business analytics, and artificial intelligence;
- business resilience and competitiveness: financial management, risk management, sustainable development, and adaptation to economic challenges.

Law

- legal aspects of public administration under martial law;
- protection of human rights in present-day conditions;
- legal mechanisms for countering cybercrime.

Information and digital technologies

- artificial intelligence and machine learning in various fields;
- cybersecurity and data protection;
- digital services for education, research and business.

Journalism and Digital Communications

- digital transformation of media: new formats, platforms, and audiences;
- linguistic, ethical, and legal aspects of modern media communication — from journalistic language standards to countering disinformation;
- the impact of AI and emerging technologies on journalistic practice, education, and the future of the profession.

Design and Creative Industries

- Current issues and development prospects in graphic design
- Visual communication and information environment design
- Design in cultural and social spaces

Psychology
